

Japan's Free Zone Movement

Sachiko Maki

*Chair of the Board of Directors
Green Coop, Kumamoto, Japan*

🌿 グリーンコープ生協くまもと

7 May, 2015 Berlin

The first sign and rice farmers declaring GMO free zone

Various designs to deliver the message

Japan's GMO Free Zones

It continues to grow each year

Year	Acreage (hectare)
March, 2006	4, 716
November, 2006	6, 707
2008	50, 050
2009	53, 619
2010	55, 535
2011	68, 672
2012	78, 366
2013	81, 865
2014	84, 511
2015	86, 333

From Farmers to Gardeners

One of the biggest GMO free zone signs in Japan

A small garden pick for kitchen gardeners

Japan's GMO Free Zone Movement 10th Anniversary in Aso, Kumamoto

One of the largest calderas in Japan

Kumamoto's special product, Takana,
(Brassica juncea var. integrifolia)

Solidarity for anti-GMO Supporting Organic Farming

Over 500 people gathered

Organic farming
into education

Copyright (C) 今治市役所 All Rights Reserved

Japan's GMO Free Zone Meeting in 2016

